Dear Ms Tsigounis,

We hereby acknowledge receipt of your communication, dated 20 April 2018.

Please note that the individual complaint procedure under the Optional Protocol to the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights require that certain preliminary criteria are satisfied before the Committee can proceed with the examination of a complaint.

After having carefully reviewed the content of your complaint, we have noted that the following preliminary criteria do not appear to be met:

1. Your petition does not provide sufficient details as to the facts of your case, and as to how your rights under the treaty have been violated. Your petition should identify the provisions that have been violated together with an explanation as to why you consider that these provisions have been violated, detailing in chronological order the facts and circumstances of your case.

2. The Committee is generally not in a position to review facts and evidence, or the application of domestic legislation, in a particular case, made by domestic courts, unless the author of the communication can demonstrate that such evaluation or application was clearly arbitrary or amounted to a manifest error or denial of justice, or that the courts otherwise violated its obligation of independence and impartiality.

Best regards,
